Our goods come with guarantees that cannot be excluded under the Australian Consumer Law. You are entitled to a replacement or refund for a major failure and for compensation for any other reasonably foreseeable loss or damage. You are also entitled to have the goods repaired or replaced if the goods fail to be of acceptable quality and the failure does not amount to a major failure.

This Warranty is in addition to and does not limit, exclude or restrict your rights under the Competition and Consumer Act 2010 (Australia) or any other mandatory protection laws that may apply. To the extent that we are able, we exclude all other conditions, warranties and obligations which would otherwise be implied.

KJ Music warrants goods we distribute to be free from defects in materials and workmanship for the warranty period from the date of sale to the original retail consumer/purchaser whilst the goods are owned and used by the Original Purchaser. This excludes consumables such as strings, pads, oils, creams, greases, reeds etc and the lacquer or plated finishes on some products.

If an item is found to be defective under the terms of the warranty KJ Music will, at its expense and at its option:

Repair the item, or Replace the item or supply an equivalent item, or Pay the cost of such repair or replacement.

Subject to the availability of new parts, refurbished parts may be used to repair the item – you will be notified of this in advance of such repairs being carried out. We warrant any replacement parts for the remainder of the period of warranty for the goods into which they are incorporated. This excludes consumables such as reeds, pads, corks, felts and strings.

For repairs outside the warranty period, we warrant our repairs to be free from defects in materials and workmanship for three months from the date of the original repair. We agree to re-repair or replace (at our option) any materials or workmanship which we are satisfied are defective.

We warrant that we will perform services with reasonable care and skill and agree to investigate any complaint regarding our services made in good faith. If we are satisfied that the complaint is justified, and as our sole liability to you under this warranty (to the extent permitted at law), we agree to supply those services again at no extra charge to your customers.

To make a warranty claim your customer must, before the end of the applicable warranty period and at their own cost, return the goods they allege are defective to the place of purchase. They must also provide written details of the defect, and provide an original or copy of the sales invoice or some other evidence showing details of the transaction including their name, the make, model and serial number (if any) of the item.

If we determine that the goods are defective under the terms of the warranty, we will pay for the cost of returning the repaired or replaced goods to them, and reimburse the reasonable expenses of sending their warranty claim item to us.

Our goods come with guarantees that cannot be excluded under the Australian Consumer Law. The purchaser is entitled to a replacement or refund for a major failure and for compensation for any other reasonably foreseeable loss or damage. The purchaser is also entitled to have the goods repaired or replaced if the goods fail to be of acceptable quality and the failure does not amount to a major failure.

It should be noted that any defects in materials and/or workmanship should be apparent at the time of purchase or within a few days of purchase. Please inspect goods thoroughly at the time of purchase. Musical instruments and products are delicate by nature and may easily go out of proper adjustment when handled by inexperienced players or during transportation, even when in the case. Warranties do not cover normal wear & tear, damage arising from misuse or neglect, accidental damage, loss or theft.

It is most important that you ask your customers to communicate immediately with you or us about any perceived problems. Most problems can be fixed very quickly by us or you, our authorised dealers.

Please ask customers to keep proof of purchase documents to expedite any warranty claims or queries.

HOHNER DIATONIC HARMONICAS

These instruments play a 7-note scale. To allow for chord accompaniment, the first three holes do not allow the complete scale to be played. The 5th or dominant note is repeated in draw hole 2 and blow hole 3 (e.g. in the key of C, holes 1 – 3 blow are CEG, holes 1 – 3 draw are DGB). This is called Richter tuning. An example of the layout of a diatonic harmonica in C is shown below:

		Blow	C	E	G	C	E	G	C	E	G	C
Key:	C	Hole	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
		Draw	D	G	B	D	F	A	B	D	F	A

HOHNER CHROMATIC HARMONICAS

These instruments enable the player to perform in all keys on the one instrument. This is achieved by effectively combining two diatonic harmonicas a semitone apart (eg C + C#), the second key being accessed by pushing the slide button. The full scale of each key is available in each successive group of 4 holes, as seen in the layout diagram below:

SLIDE OUT: Key of C Major

blow	C	E	G	C'	C'	E'	G'	C''	C''	E''	G''	C'''
hole	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12
draw	D	F	A	B	D'	F'	A'	B'	D''	F''	A''	B''

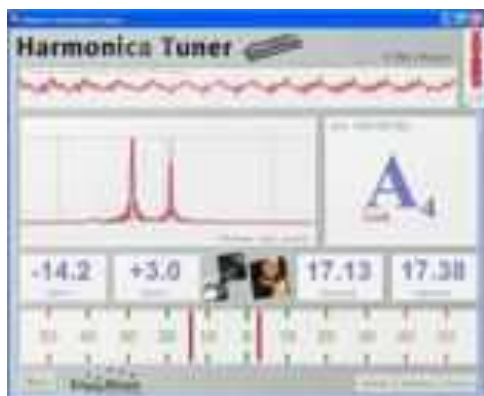

SLIDE IN: Key of C# Major*

blow	C#	E#	G#	C#'	C#'	E#'	G#'	C#''	C#''	E#''	G#''	C#'''
hole	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12
draw	D#	F#	A#	C(B#)	D#'	F#'	A#'	B#'(C')	D#''	F#''	A#''	D''' **

 NB: THE DRAW NOTE ON HOLE 12 IS D natural, which does not belong to the key of C#/Db. It is there to extend the range of the C (slide out) side of the harmonica.

A VARIETY OF MODELS WITH DIFFERENT TONAL QUALITIES AND PRICE POINTS IS AVAILABLE.

New for 2013:

HOHNER'S new CShop website is full of useful information on how to maintain and repair harmonicas, as well as an extensive spare parts catalogue for all models.

It also includes information, spare parts guides and exploded diagrams for accordions, guitars and melodicas.

Spare parts are available through Kurt Jacob & Co. For most harmonica models, we hold reed plates, combs and cover plates for the most popular keys. Others are available by special order or through the CShop. www.hohner-cshop.eu/en/

HOHNER "CLASSIC" DIATONIC HARMONICAS

Diatonic harmonicas feature a single note on each hole for both blow and draw. They are more commonly called "blues harps". Notes can be "bent" to alter their pitch (as with MS). This range includes the Marine Band, Special 20, Crossover Marine Band, Thunderbird and Golden Melody models.

The Hohner Company prides itself on innovation and constant improvement of the existing, established product lines. In order to be able to offer the true "Vintage Sound", Hohner invested in extremely precise tools to minimize air loss and ensure a quicker response and bigger volume. The result is our exclusive "Classic" or "Handmade" line.

HOHNER MS DIATONIC HARMONICAS

The abbreviation "MS" stands for Modular System, an integrated concept for Hohner's harmonica design. MS-harmonicas benefit from innovations that improve the playing characteristics and also significantly facilitate maintenance and handling. All MS-parts (combs, reed plates and covers) can be combined individually. Simple screw connections allow for an easy assembly. This concept offers the possibility to the players to adjust the instruments to their individual requirements. The MS range includes the Blues Harp, Pro Harp, Cross Harp, Meisterklasse and Big River harmonicas. Some notes can be bent to alter their pitch, giving some chromatic and microtonal notes. Cross Harp reed plates are thicker than standard and are chrome plated. Meisterklasse plates are also thicker and are nickel plated.

ALL INSTRUMENTS ON THIS PAGE ARE DIATONIC: ie THEY PLAY THE NOTES OF A SINGLE KEY, SET UP SO THAT A CHORD CAN BE PLAYED BY BLOWING 3 ADJACENT HOLES. HOLES 1 – 3 GIVE A TONIC CHORD WHEN BLOWN AND A DOMINANT CHORD WHEN DRAWN (EXCEPT TREMOLO SOLOIST).

HOHNER OCTAVE TUNED DIATONIC HARMONICAS

After the tremolo harmonicas, the octave tuned instruments are the most popular instruments for traditional and folk music. They are easily recognisable by the air channels which are divided horizontally and their characteristic curved banana-like shape. The lines in this range are the Comet, Seductora, Echo and Unsere Lieblinge models. Each note is produced by a pair of reeds, tuned exactly one octave apart, which produces a strong and full sound.

HOHNER TREMOLO DIATONIC HARMONICAS

The Hohner Tremolo range includes the following models:

Echo, Echo Harp, Kreuzwender, Bravi Alpini, Big Valley, Golden Melody Tremolo, Seductora, Tremolo Soloist and 21 Tremolo Deluxe.

Tremolo-tuned harmonicas are mainly used for folk music. They are easily recognisable by the horizontal division of the air channels. Each channel has two reeds for each note, one pair for blown notes and another pair for drawn ones. These reeds – which are basically identical – are tuned to slightly different frequencies. When played together, this difference causes the characteristic beating or tremolo sound.

HOHNER OFFERS A WIDE RANGE OF BASS, CHORD AND EXTENDED RANGE INSTRUMENTS.

SPECIAL 20

The Special 20 is a Marine Band Classic with a special plastic comb for increased player comfort. Like the Marine Band, it is hand-made, assembled, tuned and tested.

COUNTRY TUNING

These harmonicas are tuned such that when you are playing in "Cross Harp" or second position the 7th will be major (e.g. to play in C, use the F Country Tuning which has 5th hole draw note raised to B-natural instead of B-flat). This allows the player to bend the 3rd and 5th more readily without losing the major 7th in the process.

MARINE BAND "CROSSOVER"

With the new "Crossover" Hohner have expanded the Marine Band series to introduce a new, top-of-the-line professional quality instrument for the discerning player in modern blues, rock, jazz, soul or funk. The revolutionary laminated bamboo comb (patented) is completely sealed, making it water repellent and exceptionally stable. In combination with the screw-together assembly the Crossover is extremely airtight, with fast, even response and a raspy, powerful sound which is exceptionally well suited to amplified playing as well as acoustic styles. The modern compromise tuning is ideal for single note playing in different positions in all contemporary styles, while still ensuring a full chord sound.

MARINE BAND "THUNDERBIRD"

Inspired by both the Little Walter tune of the same name and Kim Wilson's Fabulous Thunderbirds, this latest addition to the Marine Band line expands the range and tonal capabilities of the diatonic harmonica. Tuned a full octave below the standard diatonic range, the Thunderbird features the same patented laminated bamboo comb as the Crossover, but with a revolutionary conical design for the lower cover plates developed in collaboration with Joe Filisko. It is also fully lacquered and has screw-together construction, special new reed profiles, and rounded channel openings and reed plate edges. Also available is the Low Low F tuning, two octaves lower than the standard F (which, with the F# model, is usually the highest pitched of the standard range 10-hole diatonic harmonicas). The Thunderbird features Joe Filisko's signature on the cover plate and comes in an attractive cardboard box with sturdy zippered case.

NB: In Australia and the UK, the term “Alto Horn” often refers to a Baritone Horn. In the USA, Tenor Horns are referred to as “Alto Horns”. It should be noted that Baritone horns are in the key of Bb and Tenor Horns are in the key of Eb. It is probably best to refer to the key of the instrument (e.g. “Eb Tenor Horn”) and try to avoid the term “Alto Horn” to eliminate confusion.

The English style, also known as the "short" or "Shepherds Crook" model (as seen in the illustration above), is the kind usually used in Australia and the UK. The "Long Cornet" or American style does not have the characteristic curve at the end of the bell tubing and is less frequently used here.

Both styles are in the key of Bb and have the same range (identical to the range of the Trumpet).

NB: In the USA and Japan, Tenor Horns are referred to as "Alto Horns". In Australia and the UK, the term "Alto Horn" often refers to a Baritone Horn. It should be noted that Tenor Horns are in the key of Eb and Baritone horns are in the key of Bb. To eliminate confusion, it is probably best to refer to the key of the instrument (e.g. "Eb Tenor Horn") and try to avoid the term "Alto Horn".

FLUTES: WHAT DO ALL THOSE LETTERS & WORDS MEAN?

| HEAD | BODY | FOOT |
ALL IMAGES ON THIS PAGE from www.trevorjames.co.uk except where noted.

CLOSED HOLE or PLATEAU STYLE KEYS:

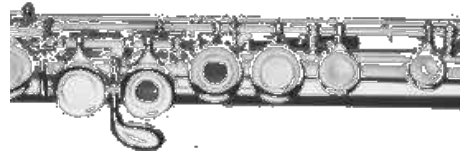

Traditional cup

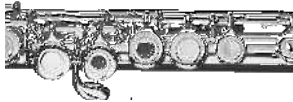

Pointed arm

OPEN HOLE or RING KEYS: (letter R)

Keys A, G (left hand) and F, E & D (right hand) have holes which are closed by the player's finger tips when playing.

OFFSET G: (letter O)

IN-LINE G:

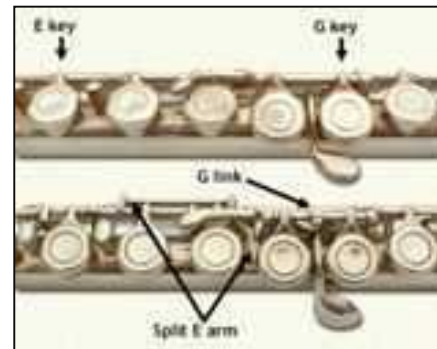

B-FOOT: (letter H - this is the German symbol for the note "B")

SPLIT E: (letter E):

This mechanism closes only the second of the two keys operated by the G key when playing high E. Split E image from www.shwoodwind.co.uk. This is a fantastic website full of great info and handy hints for the maintenance of instruments.

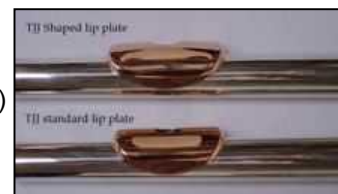

SOLID SILVER: 925 stamped on the instrument means 92.5% silver in the metal (100% silver would be too soft to maintain its shape). Higher grade alloys are sometimes used, along with gold, platinum etc.

CURVED HEAD: (letter C or U)

For younger players – allows them to hold the flute comfortably.

LIP-PLATE: Provides contact between the player's lower lip (& chin) and the instrument.

RISER: The inside surface of the embouchure hole which splits the airstream during playing, thus creating the sound.

The Horn by Trevor James, multi-award winning instruments.

Launched in January 2011, the Trevor James SR has been developed in close cooperation with sax players around the World. Using the hand built professional Signature Custom models as the template, the SR instruments have taken on many of the mechanism and crook features that were previously only available to professional players. The results are very free blowing saxophones with rich tonal characteristics.

These remarkable saxophones feature the latest in neck and body contouring and design to give the ultimate flexibility of tone and volume without compromising playability. An extensive process of consultation with noted professional players led to the current design features. The RAW model is dipped in a special cleaning fluid after final soldering and engraving and then washed, leaving the particular “antique” appearance. The RAW XS model is hand polished after this process to leave a bright finish.

NB: THE RAW BRASS FINISH ON UNLACQUERED MODELS WILL CHANGE OVER TIME!!!!

A gold-tinted lacquer is then applied to the polished surfaces for the GL models. This protects the surface from corrosion and changes in appearance.

 - Short scale for lower string tension and blues/roots sound.
 - Fishman ISYS + P/U piezo electric pick-up with built-in tuner.
 - Solid top (Series 1), solid top and back (Series2),
 - Absence of cutaway for extra projection and authentic Vintage look.
- Handcrafted in humidity controlled environment by experienced luthiers.

German and Baroque fingering:

Initially, the German fingering is easy to learn: one simply closes all the finger holes and lifts the fingers one after the other starting from the bottom hole. The result is the basic scale in c or f. One can quickly learn to play simple tunes in simple keys. Recorders with German fingering however have a big disadvantage: some semi-tones are very difficult to play in tune and require uncomfortable fingerings, so that what seems easy at first, is in fact a hindrance when playing more advanced literature.

The difficulty of the baroque fingering lies in the forked fingering one has to use for the basic scale (for the note f on a soprano), which in the beginning often poses a problem especially for children. The big advantage though is that one can play the chromatic scale over two octaves in tune.

For those who would like to play more than a couple of simple tunes on the recorder, i.e. a sonata or a concerto, should certainly start with the baroque fingering. Of course changing later from German to baroque fingering is always possible as the difference is only a few notes.

Single- or double-holes?

There are no reliable fingerings for the low c sharp and low d sharp on the soprano. This applies to recorders with German as well as baroque fingering. The double-holes are, however, of some help. When playing the low c one covers the whole double-hole and when playing c sharp one covers merely one of the double-holes. The same applies to the notes d and d sharp. Similarly on the alto, there are double-holes to play f/f sharp and g/g sharp and the double key for f/f sharp on some models.

Different woods used to make recorders.

Maple wood: stable, fine pores with flexible warm, well-balanced sound; density 0.63 g/cm³.

Pearwood: stable, fine regular denseness, fine texture warm, well-balanced sound; density 0.65 g/cm³.

Boxwood: hard with regular denseness, warm, rich tone; density 0.80 g/cm³.

Olive: hard and dense, warm, rich tone; density 0.85 g/cm³.

Rosewood: hard and very dense, warm, resonant tone; density 1.00 g/cm³.

Plum: hard and dense, warm, resonant tone; density 0.75 g/cm³.

Palisander: hard and very dense, rich in overtones and brilliant tone; density 1.05 g/cm³.

Grenadilla: very hard, dense, brilliant, resonant tone; density 1.20 g/cm³.

Ebony: hard and dense, elegant, clear tones; density 1.10 g/cm³.

How to recognize the fingering of a recorder?

One can tell the fingering of a recorder by the way it is built and by the finger-holes:

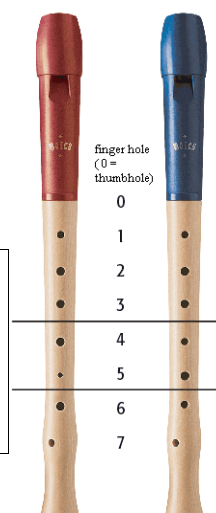

4th finger-hole large, 5th finger-hole small = German fingering

4th finger-hole small, 5th finger-hole large = baroque fingering

You can tell the fingering of the MOECK models FLAUTO 1 and FLAUTO 1 PLUS by the colours:

red head joint or connecting ring = German fingering

blue head joint or connecting ring = baroque fingering

SD Systems microphones have long been regarded as the finest on-board instrument mics in the business. By attaching the mic to the instrument, the player is able to move freely without being “tied” to a microphone stand. Used by some of the world’s leading musicians, they remain the standard by which all others are judged. After a prolonged period where production ceased, they are now back and better than ever.

VALVED BRASS INSTRUMENTS MAINTENANCE GUIDE

- Wash the mouthpiece in cool water after playing and then dry it with a soft swab or cloth. Do not rub too hard as this can cause uneven wear of the mouthpiece or loss of silver plating.
- Remove all moisture from the inside of the instrument using the water keys or "spit"-valves. You can also remove the tuning slides to help empty the water from inside. Allow the instrument to air dry for a few minutes in the case before closing the lid. If you have a swab, this can also be used.
- Always pass the swab through the instrument from top to bottom. Never bunch up the swab as you put it in – it will get stuck inside if you do!
- Never store a wet swab or cloth inside the case with the instrument. Allow it to air-dry for a couple of minutes before putting it away.
- Periodically wash the cleaning cloth. Replace it if it becomes worn.
- Use a separate lint-free, soft, dry cloth to remove oil, fingermarks etc from the outside of the body.
- The mechanism must be in good working order for the instrument to work properly. Ask your teacher to recommend a qualified instrument repairer and to show you how to oil the valves and grease the tuning slides. Like any machine, your brass instrument needs regular servicing/inspection (at least once per year) by a qualified repairer.
- OILING THE VALVES: put a couple of drops of oil onto each piston before playing. You should clean the valve pistons by brushing and using warm water with detergent regularly in order to remove old oil and dirt which may have built up over time.
- CLEAN THE WHOLE INSTRUMENT IN WARM WATER WITH DETERGENT about once every couple of months. Remove the valves and the tuning slides and place in a plastic tub or some similar container full of warm water with detergent. You can also run water from a hose through the instrument if it is too big to fit into such a tub. Do this outside! USE A "SNAKE" OR FLEXIBLE BRUSH to remove any corrosion, oil or built up dirt within the bore of the instrument. Allow to air dry before lubricating and re-assembling it. The valve pistons and the valve cylinders are numbered to make re-assembly easier.
- Lubricate the tuning slides with a little slide grease. TUNING SLIDES SHOULD BE MOVED EVERY DAY TO PREVENT THEM BECOMING STUCK or "freezing".
- Changes in temperature will affect the tone and fundamental pitch of your instrument. As the instrument gets warmer, the air inside gets less dense and the pitch goes up (sharper). Conversely, as it cools it goes flatter. Move the tuning slides out to lower the pitch and in to raise it.
- Your instrument is designed to be played at room temperature (defined as 21°C). Before performing, warm up by playing for at least five minutes. Use the water-keys very frequently to drain condensation from the instrument. If you think you are doing this too often, that's probably just about right.
- Never use oils, solvents or anti-corrosive products to clean your instrument.

How to take care of your clarinet - copy and give to your customers.

How to assemble your clarinet – advice from Buffet-Crampon

- Assemble the barrel and the top joint: hold the top joint in your left hand taking care not to apply any excessive force to the keys.
- Assemble the bottom joint and the bell. Take care not to apply any excessive force to the keys.
- Put the top and the bottom joint together: hold the top joint in your left hand and the bottom joint in your right hand. Line up the corresponding keys.
- Put the mouthpiece on the instrument. Then fix the ligature and a dampened reed onto the mouthpiece. Take care not to damage the reed or the tip of the mouthpiece with the ligature.
- After every playing session, put the mouthpiece cap on to protect the reed and the mouthpiece.

Maintenance of the clarinet

Daily care

- To prevent corrosion, wipe the keywork with a dry polishing cloth after use.
- Always use the Buffet Crampon case provided for the instrument. Too tight or too loose a case may cause bending of keys.
- Under no circumstances use oil, solvents or anti-corrosive products.

Pitch

- The pitch of wind instruments is greatly affected by temperature. The Buffet Crampon clarinet is designed to reach its pitch when played for four minutes when the surrounding environment is at Average Room Temperature (20°C) – in other words, warm up the instrument before performing.

To prevent cracks in the body

- In the case of a new instrument, do not play it continuously for more than 30 minutes daily during the first month. Use the swab frequently (see below).
- Avoid any rapid change of temperature and humidity. For instance, do not leave the instrument in the heat of the sun, out-door in winter, or near an air-conditioner or heater.
- Apply cork grease on the joint cork. Before putting the instrument in the case, dry the bore completely with your pull-through (swab).
- No bore oil needs to be used to prevent cracks in a new instrument. The instrument was thoroughly oiled at the factory. Observing the above precautions is sufficient.
- Note: Should any wooden instrument crack, it will never affect the intonation and tone quality if the instrument is properly repaired.

Use of swab

- While playing the instrument, use a swab frequently (every 10-15 minutes). If water collects in the tone holes, bubbling and swelling of pads with consequent leakage will badly affect performance. If this occurs, dry the pads with rice paper.
- Note: pass a swab through the barrel towards the bell. It may otherwise be caught by a tube protruding inwardly in the upper part of the top joint.
- When the swab is soiled, replace it with a new one. If a soiled or fluffy one resulting from over washing is used, dirt and/or lint may collect in the tone holes.
- Do not put a wet swab in the case together with the instrument. The wet swab may cause rust on the springs and the discoloration of the keywork.

In the event of any problems, please contact your dealer.

Pitch adjustment

- When barrel is pulled out slightly from the top Joint: The pitch of the instrument generally lowers, but especially the notes in the upper part of the top joint.
- When the top joint is pulled out slightly from bottom joint: The pitch of the instrument generally lowers, but especially the notes in the upper part of the bottom joint.

THIS ADVICE APPLIES EQUALLY TO OBOE AND BASSOON.

Flute Maintenance Guide

Assembly and Disassembly

We will begin with the basics of setting up and taking apart a flute.

When assembling the flute here are the do's and do not's.

DO Wash your hands and rinse out your mouth before taking the flute out to practice.

DO Set the case on a hard immobile surface, such as a table or the floor, when opening the case.

DO NOT put the case on a music stand when opening the case – it will fall off!!!

DO Make sure the case has the right side up when opening.

DO Wipe down the contact points of the joints with a cloth before twisting them together

DO NOT Force a stuck or hard to twist joint.

DO NOT grasp the flute around the mechanism when putting the flute together, this can bend keys.

DO NOT Use Vaseline or any other lubricant on the joints.

DO Swab out the flute before putting it away.

No Sword Fighting

The epic battle between flute and clarinet continues, but please do not use your flute as a sword.

Also it is a bad idea to use it as a cricket bat, hockey stick, twirling baton or walking stick. Although you play it, it isn't a toy.

Cleaning and Swabbing

When it is time to put away the flute, do not be in a rush. Hurrying is how dents are made.

DO Swab out all three joints with a cotton or silk handkerchief attached to the swab stick.

DO NOT Use a "Pad Saver" / "fuzzy stick" sort of swab unless you keep it outside of the case. These do a reasonable job of absorbing moisture, but when they are stored inside the body of the flute the moisture remains and can therefore be absorbed by the pads. They also get mouldy if not allowed to dry properly.

DO Wipe off the surface of the flute with a clean, dry cotton cloth.

DO NOT Just leave your flute assembled and throw it in the locker. Put it in the case and lock your locker!

DO NOT Turn your flute into a biological science experiment by never cleaning out the spit from inside or wiping it off the outside. It will grow. . .

Sticky Pads

If the pads get sticky, they can cause the keys to not open properly and cause an annoying sticky noise. Here is how to remove the stick the right way.

DO Use rice paper to clean pads. It will not damage them.

DO Blot the rice paper on the pad by opening and closing the pad over the paper. . . do not close and tug.

Head Cork Tuning

This is best left to your band director if he/she advises it. But there is one thing to keep in mind. . .

DO NOT Mess with the crown (little twisty screw thingy at the end of the headjoint). This will affect the tuning of the instrument. Just don't touch it!

Polishing

DO NOT Polish your instrument, not even with a silver polishing cloths. If cleaned after every practice and performance, it shouldn't tarnish too quickly. Don't leave it out of the case or store any rubber bands or similar things in the case with the flute.

DO Wipe fingerprints off with a CLEAN, UNTREATED, COTTON CLOTH. Only.

A player with a well tarnished flute means one thing: He/She practices a whole heck of a lot. Be afraid. . .

Oiling

DO NOT use the "fire-hydrant"-sized nozzle on the Key Oil. Only the tiniest droplet of oil is required on the contact points on the keywork, and then only once or twice per year, depending on frequency of use. The traditional method is to use the point of a pin dipped into a little oil which will then enter the tiny gap between the rods and posts by capillary action. If in doubt about how to do this, get a qualified repairer to do it when you are having the annual service and cleaning.

GUITAR MAINTENANCE GUIDE

Never subject your guitar to extreme environmental conditions of heat, cold, very humid or very dry air. Protect it from caustic and acidic substances (such as cleaning solutions). Also keep it clear of sharp or hard objects that can scratch or dent the instrument (including belt buckles and metal shirt buttons).

These things can damage or destroy your instrument. Heat and moisture, for example, can loosen glue joints to the point where they separate or come apart. Dry or cold air can crack the wood or the finish.

Preventative guitar maintenance includes avoiding typical places where extreme conditions can occur, such as car boots, attics, the beach, the cargo area of a plane or bus, direct sunlight or near heating or cooling vents. If you have no choice but to place your guitar in a car or other harsh environment, minimize the time there (minutes, not hours) and always keep it in the case.

As often as possible, try to keep your guitar in friendly environments. An ideal environment for your guitar is somewhere between 20-25 degrees Celsius and 45-55% relative humidity.

Use common sense. Don't subject your guitar to forces, objects, liquids, or environments that would be harmful or uncomfortable to you (or your skin).

Keep it clean

Natural oils, dead skin, lotions and soaps can all transfer from you to your instrument. Fine particles in the air from air fresheners, cooking, deodorants, hair spray, etc. can also adhere to the surface of the strings and body. Chemicals used in manufacturing your clothes, your guitar straps, capos and other items that come in contact with your instrument can damage the finish.

As part of a sound guitar maintenance routine, start by washing your hands before you play or practice. Then, before putting your instrument away, wipe your strings and instrument with a clean soft cloth to remove all fingerprints, sweat, dirt etc. Don't use any products or chemicals to clean your guitar unless specifically recommended by the manufacturer.

Use Your Hard Case: (Don't forget to do up the latches, clips or zipper!)

The best guitar maintenance is preventative, and the safest place for your guitar is inside a hard case that has been properly fitted to your guitar.

Many guitars come with hard cases that are custom fitted by the manufacturer. You can also purchase additional or replacement cases from reputable manufacturers... but make certain that it fits properly. Damage can occur if the neck is not properly supported, if the head has pressure on it or if the instrument can slip and slide inside the case.

Humidity

For proper guitar maintenance, control the temperature and humidity whenever possible. To minimize the effect of changes in temperature and humidity levels, keep your guitar in its case. Also, never store it in the direct path of a vent or against an outside wall where temperature and humidity can be significantly different from the rest of the room and can change rapidly.

Periodic Maintenance

Strings, tuning machines, bridges, nuts, knobs/dials and the tremolo-bar on some electrics all need periodic maintenance. While you're performing these periodic checks, also give your entire guitar a good cleaning.

Tuning Machine Maintenance

Many guitars have maintenance free tuning machines. How can you tell? If the tuning machine is fully enclosed (that is, you can't see any gears) it's maintenance free.

Even if it's open, tuning machine maintenance is very easy. Every three months or so wipe them clean (they can gather dust) with a very small brush or a clean, lint-free cloth. Then apply a very small amount of lubricant. If you leave too much lubricant on the gear, dust and dirt will adhere, possibly leading to damage.

Strings

Strings need replacing on a regular basis as they stretch and wear unevenly due being played and tuned. They also break occasionally.

Signs that your strings need replacing include the following:

It's harder to keep your guitar in tune, or some notes don't quite sound "right".

Your guitar sounds dull.

You can see dull spots on the strings.

You can't remember the last time you changed them.

Generally speaking, it's a good idea to change the whole set at the same time.

Harmonica Care and maintenance

In order to get the best out of your Hohner harmonica, Hohner recommends the following tips.

- Play it gently and softly for the first weeks. This enables the reeds to develop their full sound and increases their life expectancy.
- Never play your harmonica when it is cold. Always warm a cold instrument up by breathing gently into the channel openings, so that it can reach body temperature before you start to play. You can also keep your harmonica in a bag close to the body in order to warm it up or keep it warm.
- After playing, tap the channel openings out into the palm of your hand to remove any remaining traces of moisture before returning the harmonica to its case.
- Rinse your mouth out with plain water or brush your teeth before playing in order to prevent particles of food becoming lodged inside the instrument and blocking the sensitive reeds.
- Avoid beverages containing sugar when playing, as this can also block the reeds and cause them to stick.
- We strongly advise against putting your harmonica in water or any other liquid, as even sealed wooden combs can warp when wet, thus reducing air tightness.

Please do not put oil of any kind onto or into your harmonica.

Oil collects dust and thereby increases the likelihood of the channels becoming blocked. It also damages the wind-savers or valves on the instrument. If the slide mechanism on a chromatic harmonica is not moving freely, it is likely that it has become bent.

In such cases you should take the instrument to a qualified repairer.

- Please note that reeds and windsavers can show signs of fatigue over time - and sometimes sooner when played with great intensity. Fatigue may cause windsavers or reeds to fail. Improper maintenance can also affect the reeds and windsavers. If your harmonica is no longer functioning properly or noticeably out of tune, we recommend discontinuing its use and sending the instrument to a Hohner Service-Center for repair.

Hohner accepts no liability for damage incurred through normal wear and tear.

Tampering with the instrument in any way voids the warranty, as does improper treatment.

Low Notes On Your Harmonica

When the lower holes of a harmonica are played as single notes (especially the draw notes), it is not unusual for the sound to be muffled, weak, lowered, or simply non-existent. This is referred to as "choking" the reeds. Although lower pitched reeds are particularly prone to choking, any reed is susceptible.

A choked reed is not caused by a defective or flawed harmonica. A choked reed usually occurs because the proper resonance chamber has not been created inside a player's mouth and throat. Each individual note needs a slightly different resonance chamber in order to sound clearly. For this reason, it is common that one reed will choke while the reeds adjacent to it will sound normally.

To prevent choking reeds:

- Breathe through the harmonica with the same amount of pressure that you would use to breathe normally.
- Open your mouth and throat as much as possible, keeping your tongue out of the way.
- Breathe through your nose and mouth simultaneously to relieve excessive pressure.
- Tilt the back of the harmonica slightly downward while playing (especially helpful with chromatic models).
- A sweet, expressive tone should be emphasized over volume. Forcing more air or drawing too hard through your harmonica increases the pressure and also increases the conditions for choking the reed.

Although it is natural to think so, playing a harmonica is not the same as blowing a whistle or sucking through a straw. We like to think of the proper technique as more like singing -- using your mouth, sinus cavity and throat as a resonance chamber to get a nice sweet sound. Experiment with different mouth positions for each note, blow and draw, until you find a clean sounding note.

Many players use the choking potential of low draw notes to their advantage. Once these notes are mastered, they can be flattened and manipulated in many interesting ways. This is how musicians create the traditional blues sound that everyone loves so much.

The harmonica is easy to play and enjoy. However -- like any musical instrument -- knowledge, practice, dedication and good technique are required to reach advanced levels of artistry.

Percussion instrument Maintenance Guide:

Drums:

The best maintenance advice is DON'T HIT THEM TOO HARD. Sticks and skins will need replacing on a regular basis as they wear out as part of playing the instrument. While taking the heads/skins off, you should check the screws on the lugs to make sure they are clean and straight. The shells can be cleaned with a soft cloth to avoid scratching. Avoid using chemical cleaning products as they can damage the finish on the surface of the shells. Remove dirt, lint and any other foreign objects from both the interior and exterior of the shells. Clean hands before playing and don't use the drum as a picnic table. Snare wires and snare strainer should be checked and adjusted regularly.

Mallet Percussion:

The best maintenance advice is DON'T HIT THEM TOO HARD. Check that the bars are clean and not warped or damaged. Wooden bars on xylophones and marimbas should not be chipped or split – if they are they will need to be replaced. The suspension chord (that is the mechanical chord, not the Sus4 chord) should be intact along its entire length and any pedals or dampers should be checked for free movement. These may require occasional oiling.

USE OF THE CORRECT MALLETS IS ESSENTIAL: use of hard mallets on the bars can result in irreversible damage. If the mallet heads become damaged, they can also cause damage to bars (not to mention sounding terrible). Replace them regularly.

Bells and Tubular Bells:

The best maintenance advice is DON'T HIT THEM TOO HARD. Check suspension system, pedals, damping system, handles etc and replace parts as necessary.

Cymbals:

The best maintenance advice is DON'T HIT THEM TOO HARD. They are musical instruments, not anvils or chopping blocks. Cymbals should be cleaned regularly and fingerprints wiped off at the end of each playing session. Stands or leather handles should be checked for looseness or signs of wear and replaced when these occur. Make sure the felts on cymbal stands are in good condition and that the wing nuts are still present.

Shakers, wood blocks, rain sticks etc:

Provided these are not dropped or used as clubs or bats they should give years of trouble-free playing. There isn't that much that can be done to maintain them other than regular cleaning.

ALWAYS STORE INSTRUMENTS IN CASES OR CUPBOARDS (PREFERABLY LOCKABLE ONES) WHEN NOT IN USE.

Saxophone Maintenance Guide:

After playing –

- Remove the neck from the body and then the mouthpiece from the neck. This will prevent the neck from being bent while disassembling. When assembling, reverse this order (i.e. mouthpiece on neck first, then put neck onto body).
- To prevent the reed from being damaged, carefully remove it from the mouthpiece and store it in a reed guard until you next play. Replace the ligature and cap on the mouthpiece and store it in the space provided in the case. Allow your reed to recover for a day or two before using it again by having at least two that you use alternately.
- Wash the mouthpiece in cool water after playing and then dry it with a small swab or cloth. Do not rub on the facing or the rails (the bits that are in contact with the reed) as this can cause uneven wear of the mouthpiece facing which will prevent it working properly.
- The neck (crook) must also be swabbed out to remove any moisture. Do not use the body swab for this purpose – it is too big and will become stuck inside!!!
- Remove all moisture from the inside of the sax by using a pull-through swab. This prevents the formation of moulds and keeps the pads dry. The pads are made of leather, felt and cardboard, all of which can absorb moisture. If wet, the pads will distort, rot or become mouldy. If this happens, they will no longer make an airtight seal on the tone-holes.
- Always pass the swab through the instrument from top to bottom. Never bunch up the swab as you put it in – it will get stuck inside if you do!
- Never store a wet swab inside the case with the instrument. Allow it to air-dry for a couple of minutes before putting it away.
- Periodically wash the cleaning swab. Replace it if it becomes worn.
- Use a separate lint-free, soft, dry cloth to remove fingermarks etc from the keys and the outside of the body.
- The mechanism must be in good working order for the sax to work properly. Regularly check that the pads are air tight and the springs that operate the mechanism have not become disengaged from their respective keys and that all pivot screws are tightened snugly (but not too tight). Ask your teacher to recommend a qualified instrument repairer and to show you how to oil the mechanism. Like any machine, your sax needs regular servicing (at least once per year).
- Reeds wear out with playing. This unfortunate fact means that you must replace them regularly to maintain a good musical sound. Reeds are available from all good music stores. Always keep a few spares in your case to use if your current ones get damaged. They are thin pieces of cane that can easily split or chip, so handle with care by always picking them up by the thick end (butt).
- Changes in temperature will affect the tone and fundamental pitch of your instrument. As the instrument gets warmer, the air inside gets less dense and the pitch goes up (sharper). Conversely, as it cools it goes flatter. Move the mouthpiece towards you (i.e. further off the neck) to lower the pitch and away from you (i.e. “push” further on) to raise it.
- Your instrument is designed to be played at room temperature (defined as 21°C). Before performing, warm up by playing for at least five minutes. Use the swab/pull-through regularly in breaks to keep the inside of your instrument dry.
- Before playing the instrument, apply a small amount of cork grease to the neck cork to prevent it drying out. Put the mouthpiece onto the neck before putting the reed and ligature on and attaching the neck to the body. When not playing, put the cap on the mouthpiece.
- Never use oils, solvents or anti-corrosive products to clean your instrument.

Trombone Maintenance Guide

After playing –

- Wash the mouthpiece in cool water after playing and then dry it with a soft swab or cloth. Do not rub too hard as this can cause uneven wear of the mouthpiece or loss of silver plating.
- Remove all moisture from the inside of the instrument using the water keys or “spit”-valves. You can also remove the slide and the tuning slide(s) to help empty the water from inside. Allow the instrument to air dry for a few minutes in the case before closing the lid. If you have a swab, this can also be used.
- Always pass the swab through the instrument from top to bottom. Never bunch up the swab as you put it in – it will get stuck inside if you do!
- Never store a wet swab or cloth inside the case with the instrument. Allow it to air-dry for a couple of minutes before putting it away.
- Periodically wash the cleaning cloth. Replace it if it becomes worn.
- Use a separate lint-free, soft, dry cloth to remove oil, fingermarks etc from the outside of the body.
- The mechanism must be in good working order for the trombone to work properly. You need to lubricate the slide every time you play. Ask your teacher to recommend a qualified instrument repairer and to show you how to grease the tuning slides and oil the valve(s) if present (i.e. Bb/F trom or bass trom). Like any machine, your trombone needs regular servicing/inspection (at least once per year) by a qualified repairer.
- THE SLIDE: There are a number of products available to lubricate the slide. These include oils, slide cream, water, Slide-o-Mix, etc. It is most important to remove old built-up lubricant residue from both the slide and the stocking before applying new lubricant.
- CLEAN THE WHOLE INSTRUMENT IN WARM WATER WITH DETERGENT about once every couple of months. Remove the slide section and the tuning slides and place in a plastic tub or some similar container full of warm water with detergent. You can also run water from a hose through the instrument if it is too big to fit into such a tub. Do this outside! USE A “SNAKE” OR FLEXIBLE BRUSH to remove any corrosion, oil or built up dirt within the bore of the instrument. Allow to air dry before lubricating and re-assembling it.
- Lubricate any tuning slides with a little tuning slide grease - this is heavier (more viscous) than trombone slide grease. TUNING SLIDES SHOULD BE MOVED EVERY DAY TO PREVENT THEM BECOMING STUCK or “freezing”.
- Changes in temperature will affect the tone and fundamental pitch of your instrument. As the instrument gets warmer, the air inside gets less dense and the pitch goes up (sharper). Conversely, as it cools it goes flatter. Move the tuning slide out to lower the pitch and in to raise it.
- Your instrument is designed to be played at room temperature (defined as 21°C). Before performing, warm up by playing for at least five minutes. Use the water-keys very frequently to drain condensation from the instrument. If you think you are doing this too often, that’s probably just about right.
- Never use oils, solvents or anti-corrosive products to clean your instrument.
